VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

PLEASE volunteer for the NMSSA !

We need your help to fight for our 2nd Amendment rights before they are taken away.

The New Mexico legislature is already planning a lot of new Anti-gun legislation for the 2020 session in January.

WE NEED TO GET THE WORD OUT TO AS MANY New Mexicans AS POSSIBLE ABOUT THESE BILLS.

We need volunteers to help work the NMSSA booth at the New Mexico Gun Collector's Show, October 5th & 6th at the New Mexico Fair Grounds, Manual Lujan Building.

If you can help, even for a few hours, please email Zac Fort, President of the New Mexico Sports Shooting Association president@nmssa.org .

MESSAGE FROM NMSSA PRESIDENT - ZAC FORT

No other state has been impacted as much as New Mexico has by decisions of large retailers like Walmart to no longer sell firearms, stop sales certain types of ammunition, or to no longer allow open carry of firearms in their stores. Is this about "public safety?" Not in the least bit. Criminals aren't going to be foiled by Walmart no longer selling handgun ammunition.

So why then are large retailers ending their sales of firearms and asking customers to not openly carry firearms in their stores? This is a coordinated effort to stigmatize firearm ownership. To push guns out of the public eye; to make you feel like social outcast for wanting to exercise your constitutional rights as the founders intend.

How then do we fight back? By being vocal public advocates for our rights. By getting involved in youth hunting and shooting sports. By inviting our friends and family who haven't shot a gun before to go the range. By supporting firearm retailers who support our rights.

New Mexico has a proud tradition of firearm ownership that spans cultures and generations. NMSSA and our members will fight to defend that legacy.

OUR VISION IS TO MAKE NMSSA A STATE-WIDE ASSOCIATION.

RED FLAG FAILURE: POLICE TAKE GUNS FROM ILLINOIS MAN, KILLS MOTHER WITH SAMURAI SWORD

A man in a Chicago suburb was arrested by police after killing his own mother by stabbing her repeatedly with a samurai sword in the chest.

Park Ridge Police had removed David Krystyniak's firearms two times, with the last time being July 14th, 2019.

The man was mentally ill and had a long history with social workers and police for erratic behavior in the past.

The man was arrested on July 29 after a police officer and social worker driving by his home saw groceries strewn on the driveway.

They approached his door and asked if they could come in — the man agreed.

They walked into the home and found the body of his mother in a trash can in the living room.

Police said that she had been stabbed multiple times in the chest with a sword before her body was placed in the trash can.

Police reports indicated that the four guns were confiscated in 2017 and again in July of this year because David Krystyniak didn't have a valid FOID card.

Now, not even two weeks after being disarmed by police, this mentally unwell man just found another weapon.

His mother wasn't safe just because his guns were taken away...

People who are a threat to themselves or others won't be stopped by Red Flags.

The abuses of Red Flag laws aside, they simply don't accomplish what proponents claim they will.

If somebody is determined to hurt themselves or somebody else, they will just steal somebody else's gun or find an alternative weapon.

RGH Foundation to host 5th annual Skeet Shoot to raise funds for local hospital

PORTALES, NM, August 19, 2019 – The RGH Foundation is hosting the 5th Annual Skeet Shoot to raise funds for Roosevelt General Hospital. All proceeds are used to enhance the patient's experience during their visit. The shoot is scheduled for Saturday, September 14 at Idsinga Dairy located at 43351 US Highway 70 in Portales, New Mexico.

Everyone is invited to participate in the 'Shoot for Good Health' fundraiser. New to this year's skeet shoot is a women's division—other divisions include youth, adult-mixed and team. You may register at the event or in advance by contacting Jeanette Orrantia at (575) 226-6669 or by email at jorrantia@myrgh.org.

The five-hour event begins at 8 a.m. All first place winners receive a prize. Entry fees range from $35 to $175. Anyone under the age of 18 must present a hunter safety card during registration.

Last year, nearly $12,000 was raised at this event. Fundraising dollars have been used to purchase TVs for waiting areas and patient rooms, add new floors for inpatient area, acquire up-to-date physical therapy equipment, add comfortable reclining chairs in patient rooms, and upgrade the patient rooms in behavioral health with more suitable and inviting accommodations, plus much more. "Items purchased by the Foundation for the hospital and clinic improve the overall patient experience by providing our patients with items that make their stay more comfortable and enjoyable," stated Jeanette Orrantia, executive director of RGH Foundation.

In addition to the skeet shoot, a variety of guns will be raffled to help raise funds including a Henry Repeating Arms 357 Mag, 9MM Glock with USA flag imprint, and a 9MM Ruger. The Foundation will also raffle off a YETI cooler. Raffle tickets range in price from $10-$35. To purchase a raffle ticket, call 575-226-6669.

Idsinga Dairy, C&S, Your First Choice 4 Realty LLC, American National Insurance, White Rock Crushing, LLC, Scott & Debbie Reeves, and Edward Jones Investments are generous sponsors for this year's fundraiser event.

The members of the RGH Foundation volunteer their time and efforts and are not compensated for their work. The Foundation, which has existed since 2011, is comprised of concerned members of the community who want to ensure citizens of Roosevelt County have access to quality health care.

For more information about the RGH Foundation, visit www.myrgh.org/RGH-Foundation.

Mass Shootings in Gun-Free Zones from The American Spectator

By George Parry

Consider this excerpt from the "manifesto" issued by the shooter who murdered 22 people in an El Paso, Texas, Walmart store:

Remember: it is not cowardly to pick low hanging fruit. AKA (sic) Don't attack heavily guarded areas to fulfill (sic) your super soldier COD [Call of Duty first person shooter video game] fantasy. Attack low security targets. Even though you might out gun a security guard or police man, they likely beat you in armor, training and numbers. Do not throw away your life on an unnecessarily dangerous target. If a target seems too hot, live to fight another day.

According to ABC News, El Paso law enforcement officials advise that, moments before his killing rampage, the shooter cased the Walmart "looking for Mexicans." While that may be so, it is nevertheless true that, consistent with his "manifesto," his recon was also calculated to make sure that he would be attacking in a low-security area. In that regard, the Walmart store had no armed security guard, no police presence, and was located in a shopping mall that was a self-proclaimed "gun-free zone." Similarly, in the Dayton, Ohio mass shooting, which immediately followed the El Paso murders, the victims were attacked as they exited a nightspot that was a gun-free zone. And, in the Garlic Festival shootings in Gilroy, California, the victims were trapped inside a fenced area after going through metal detectors to make sure that they were disarmed. The shooter avoided the metal detectors by cutting through the fence and then attacking a victim pool that the Gilroy authorities had rendered incapable of defending themselves.

So it is that these most recent massacres share the one common element of almost all mass casualty shootings: gun-free zones.

According to the Crime Prevention Research Center, between 1950 and 2018 97.8 percent of all mass public shootings occurred in gun-free zones. Similarly, in the 20 states that allow teachers to be armed, there have been no school shootings (as well as no accidents or injuries caused by firearms possessed by teachers).

In addition to the El Paso shooter's "manifesto," there is abundant anecdotal evidence that mass casualty shooters prefer gun-free zones. For example, in 2016, Dearborn Heights, Michigan, the shooter had an online discussion with an undercover FBI agent in which he discussed his plan for a "martyrdom operation" by attacking a Detroit church. He told the agent that this would be an easy target because "people are not allowed to carry guns in church." Fortunately, he was arrested before he could achieve martyrdom.

Similarly, in 2015, a man murdered six people in a Santa Barbara, California, gun-free zone. In his 141-page "manifesto," he explained that in planning his attack he had decided against launching it in other locations where someone with a gun might be present to cut short his killing spree. In the 2012 Aurora, Colorado, theater massacre, the killer's diary showed that he had decided against attacking an airport because of its "substantial security." And, out of the seven movie theaters within 20 minutes of the shooter's home, he chose the only one that had posted signs declaring it to be a gun-free zone.

Given this record, anyone concerned with eliminating — or at least substantially reducing — mass public shootings must ask whether or not gun-free zones pose a danger to the public by attracting killers who prefer an unarmed victim pool and should give serious consideration to the following propositions:

First, however well-intended, gun-free zones do not work. While they might provide symbolic or emotional comfort to those who fear firearms, they have no real-world practical effect other than to encourage law-abiding armed citizens to stay away.

a. Mass casualty shooters have overwhelmingly elected to carry out their attacks in gun-free zones.

b. Relative to all of the other proposed solutions to the problem of mass public shootings, the elimination of gun-free zones would be comparatively simple and inexpensive.

c. Eliminating the demonstrably ineffective gun-free zones would cause no permanent or substantial damage or loss to owners of such properties.

The elimination of gun-free zones may not prove to be the definitive answer, but the evidence indicates that it should be tried. Otherwise we will attempt the same old failed solutions over and over again while expecting a different result. To continue doing that is the very definition of insanity.

So, while our politicians contemplate possible measures to reduce mass casualty attacks, they should consider passing laws that would impose criminal and civil penalties on any and all private persons and government officials who create and maintain gun-free zones without simultaneously providing effective armed security for all individuals while they are inside such hazardous man-made potential killing fields.

Certainly the data and historical precedent support affixing such legal responsibility. If that happens, in addition to criminal prosecutions of those who establish gun-free zones, the ever-vigilant plaintiffs' bar could be expected to happily promote public safety by suing such miscreants into oblivion.
